The Irish Land Bill in Parliamentary Committee—Premier Gladstone's Principle Reaffirmed.

LONDON, April 7, 1870.

The House of Commons resumed the consideration of the Irish Land Bill in committee to-day.

Mr. Synan, member for Limerick county, moved an amendment providing that an evicted tenant be entitled to damages equal to ten years' rent, but not to exceed ten pounds.

Mr. Gladstone opposed this, though he said he was willing to provide for a full contract after the provisions of the bill had been observed for a given number of years, discretion herein to be left to the courts. Mr. Gladstone proceeded to discuss and defend other clauses of the bill.

Mr. Gathorne Hardy admitted that the most objectionable feature of the bill had been removed. Sir Roundell Palmer was severe to further changes. Grey thought the bill an adroit scheme for extorting long leases from reluctant landlords.

Mr. Hunt and Mr. Cogan favored seven years as the term of a lease.

Mr. Synan's amendment and several others were withdrawn or negatived.

Mr. Gladstone, after referring to the concessions already made with reluctance, said the tenant of all compensation to the outgoing tenant, the limitation of damages to fifty pounds, which were proposed in an amendment offered by Mr. Fowler, were equally arbitrary and unjust. He appealed solemnly to the committee to accept the concessions made by the government already so extreme as to alienate many Irish supporters.

The House divided on Fowler's amendment with the following result:

For the amendment..... 215

Against the amendment..... 258

Majority for the government..... 32

Progress was reported and the House adjourned.

Rose-Colored Despatches from the Captain General.

HAVANA, April 7, 1870.

Official despatches have been received from Captain General de Rodas, at Puerto Principe, announcing a great reaction in the insurrectionary district in favor of the Spaniards. The presentations of persons to the Spanish authorities for protection continues. Ten columns of Spanish troops had left Puerto Principe, with instructions to divide into small parties. Each column was under sealed orders from the Captain General.

The rebel General Agrasano lately hung a man to a tree on the road leading to Puerto Principe, with the inscription nailed to him—"Executed for trying to surrender."

The towns of Cascorro, Sibianel and Guaimaro have been strongly fortified by the Spanish troops. Companies of volunteers are being organized in those towns, which will be composed entirely of Cubans, and as soon as they are equipped will proceed to the field.

Two hundred Spaniards from the garrison of Puerto Principe marched into the town of Santa Cruz, where they captured and executed three rebel colonels, named Riel, Canicio and Medina.

The Spanish despatches report that the rebel General Jordan has certainly fled the country, and that the main body of insurgents, consisting of 800 men, are commanded by General Agrasano.

These despatches also state that the Cuban Congress has been dissolved.

Cuban families who surrendered to the Spanish authorities at Arenas state that President Céspedes had abandoned the region of Las Tunas and had retired, with about a dozen of his followers, to the Camagüey region.

Spanish convicts of provisions now reach the town of Las Tunas without molestation by the insurgents.
